Lankan fishermen missing at sea

COLOMBO: Sri Lanka's Ministry of Fisheries on Tuesday announced that five fishermen disappeared while at sea during cyclone Mandous. The five from three multi-day fishing vessels are residents of Batticaloa, Trincomalee and Galle districts. Susantha Kahawatta, director general of the Department of Fisheries and Aquatic Resources, told journalists that the fishing vessels were already at sea when they issued a warning. He said that the seas off Sri Lanka are calm now and that fishing activities have returned to normal.

Poland cosmonaut Miroslaw dies

WARSAW: Poland's only cosmonaut, Gen Miroslaw Hermaszewski, who circled the Earth in a Soviet spacecraft in 1978, has died. He was 81. The retired air force pilot's death on Monday was announced via Twitter by his son-in-law, European Parliament member Ryszard Czarnecki. He said Hermaszewski died at a hospital in Warsaw of complications from a surgery he had undergone in the morning. "On behalf of the family, I'm confirming the very sad news about the death of Gen. Miroslaw Hermaszewski," he tweeted.

Earthquakes hit Bali island

DENPASAR (INDONESIA): A moderately strong earthquake and two aftershocks hit Indonesia's resort island of Bali on Tuesday, causing panic but no immediate reports of damage or casualties. The U.S. Geological Survey said the magnitude 4.9 quake was centered 35 km (22 miles) north of Amlapura, a city in Bali's Karangasem district. Its shallow depth of 9.6 km (6 miles) may have caused people to run outside.

1.25 million Ram trucks recalled

DETROIT: Stellantis is recalling about 1.25 million pickup trucks because the tailgates may not close completely and cargo could spill onto the road. The recall covers Ram 1500, 2500 and 3500 pickups from the 2019 to 2022 model years. The company, formerly Fiat Chrysler, says it found that striker plates on the pickups may not be lined up right to allow complete closure. Stellantis says it's not aware of any related crashes or injuries.

Bali bombmaker apologises

TENGGULUN (INDONESIA): An Indonesian militant who was paroled last week after serving about half of his original 20-year prison sentence for making the explosives used in the 2002 Bali bombings on Tuesday apologised to victims' families. Hisyam bin Alizein, better known by his nom de guerre Umar Patek, was a leading member of the al-Qaida-linked network Jemaah Islamiyah, which was blamed for the blasts at two nightclubs in Kuta Beach that killed 202 people.

13 killed in Nepal road accident

KATHMANDU: At least 13 people were killed in a road accident in the Kavrepalanchok district of central Nepal. The bus carrying revellers from a religious ceremony met with an accident at around 6.30 PM (Local Time). 20 people were injured and taken to hospital. Kavrepalanchok SP told ANI.

Ghana to get IMF's $3 bn debt bailout

ACCRA (GHANA): The International Monetary Fund has agreed to give Ghana $3 billion to try to get the West African nation's debt under control, restore financial stability and help people most at risk from rising prices and other economic problems. The announcement this week says follows IMF officials' two-week visit this month to Ghana's capital Accra, where they discussed support for the country's policy and reform plans with authorities.

Bolsonaro supporters try to storm Brazil police HQ

Cars, buses torched as violence erupts after ratification of Lula's victory

AGENCIES / Rio De Janeiro

Supporters of Jair Bolsonaro, Brazil's outgoing president, torched cars and buses and tried to storm the federal police headquarters in the country's capital in what one commentator called a botched attempt to spark a January 6-style turmoil, according to The Guardian.

The violence erupted on Monday evening after the leftwing politician who defeated Bolsonaro in October's historic election - former president Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva - had his victory officially ratified by Brazil's electoral court.

Images of chaos as a small number of protesters, many wearing the yellow and green of Brazil's flag that has come to symbolize Bolsonaroism, roamed the city, circulated on local television channels and social media.

Brasilia's public security secretariat said in a statement that clashes broke out after police carried out an arrest warrant.

Earlier that day, Supreme Court justice Alexandre de Moraes had ordered the temporary arrest of José Acacio Serere Xavante, suspected of participating in anti-democratic protests.

Since Bolsonaro lost reelection to da Silva on Oct 30, many of his supporters have gathered outside military barracks across the country refusing to concede defeat and asking for the armed forces to intervene.

On Monday, the nation's electoral authority awarded da Silva and his vice president an official certification, sealing their victory.

Bolsonaro, who has repeatedly claimed that the nation's electronic voting system is prone to fraud and has not conceded defeat, told supporters on Friday that his political future was in their hands.

"The depredation and at-

tion in the Senate, Randolfe Rodrigues, said some protesters, whom he called "terrorists," had concentrated around the hotel where da Silva is staying.

Police in full gear were rushed to the Federal Police's headquarters as back up, as officers had to use stun grenades and rubber bullets, local media reported. Police also blocked several avenues and streets across Brasilia.

Protesters elsewhere set at least one bus on fire and were seen gathering metal barriers.

CORRUPTION SCANDAL ROCKS E.U. PARLIAMENT

AP / Brussels

The Parliament's Vice-President Kaili's term in office is going to be terminated. Kaili, a 44-year-old Greek former TV presenter, is from the S&D

The European Union's parliament was reeling on Tuesday, it's credibility under threat, as a corruption and bribery scandal damaged lawmakers' careers and fingers pointed at Qatari officials accused of seeking to play down labour rights concerns ahead of the soccer World Cup.

The scandal, which started unfolding publicly last week, has scarred the reputation of the EU's only institution comprised of officials elected directly in the 27 member countries.

The scandal has rocked the Socialists and Democrats (S&D) group in the Parliament. The group brings together centre-left parties from across Europe. It remains the second-largest group in the 705-seat assembly but lost more than 30 seats in the last election as public support waned.

Prosecutors have charged four people, who have not been identified, with corruption, participation in a criminal group and money laundering. Parliament Vice President Eva Kaili of Greece was suspended, and senior lawmakers are set on Tuesday to terminate her term in office. Belgian EU lawmaker Marc Tarabella suspended himself as a group member on Monday, suggesting he might be among those charged. Three other S&D lawmakers temporarily stood down from senior duties within the group, apparently because their parliamentary assistants were implicated.

Jaishankar arrives in U.S. to chair high-level U.N. meetings

ANI / New York

External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar landed in New York on Tuesday for a two-day US visit to preside over two high-level ministerial signature events of India's ongoing Presidency of the U.N. Security Council on Dec 14 and 15.

Jaishankar was received by India's Permanent Representative to the United Nations, ambassador Ruchira Kamboj.

The High-Level Ministerial Open Debate on Dec 14 is on the theme of "New Orientation for Reformed Multilateralism" (NORMS) and the High-Level Briefing on Dec

15 is on "Global Approach to Counter Terrorism - Challenges and Way Forward". Both these themes have been key priorities for India during its current tenure at the U.N. Security Council.

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), stated that primary focus of debate on multilateralism is to encourage all Member States to seriously address the pressing need for reforms in governance multilateral architecture.

New Zealand PM says sorry for MP insult

AP / Wellington

New Zealand Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern was caught on a hot mic on Tuesday using a vulgar word against a rival politician in a rare misstep for a leader known for her skill at debating and calm, measured responses.

After five years as prime minister, Ardern faces a tough election campaign in 2023. Her liberal Labour Party won re-election two years ago in a landslide of historic proportions, but recent polls have put her party behind its conservative rivals.

The comment came after lawmaker David Seymour, who leads the libertarian ACT party, peppered Ardern with questions about her government's record for around seven minutes during Parliament's Question Time, which allows for spirited debate between rival parties.

As an aside to her deputy Grant Robertson, Ardern said what sounded like, "He's such an arrogant pr---," after sitting down. Her words are barely audible on Parliament TV but are just picked up in the background by her desk microphone as House Speaker Adrian Rurawhe talks.

Ardern's office said she apologised to Seymour for the comment. When asked by The Associated Press to clarify, Ardern's office did not dispute the comment. In an interview with the AP, Seymour said she had used those words.

Pak says India involved in blast outside Hafiz's house

PTI / Islamabad

Pakistan on Tuesday alleged that India was involved in a blast outside Mumbai attack mastermind Hafiz Saeed's Jauhar Town residence in Lahore in June last year.

"Today, the matter that we are putting before you, we have evidence of India's involvement in it," Interior Minister Rana Sanaullah told reporters here, referring to the blast.

"We have decided to bring our stance before the world...", Sanaullah said while addressing a press conference along with the Punjab Counter-Terrorism Department (CTD) Additional Inspector General Imran Mehmood.

The blast near the residence of Jamaat-ud-Dawa chief Hafiz Saeed in Johar Town killed three people and injured 24 others in June 2021. Sanaullah said that the

Rail workers walk off job to start month of U.K. strikes

AP / London

Railroad workers across England walked off the job on Tuesday, disrupting trains throughout the UK and starting what is expected to be a month of strikes by public service workers demanding higher pay as soaring inflation erodes living standards.

The Rail, Maritime and Transport union has called two 48-hour strikes this week, cancelling most services on Tuesday and Wednesday then again on Friday and Saturday. The strikes come after unions rejected the latest offer on pay and working conditions from Network Rail, which runs the rail network, and 14 train operating companies.

Nurses, border guards and ambulance drivers are among the other workers set to strike this month, forcing the government to discuss mobilizing the army to staff vital public services this winter.

The strikes also threaten to curtail business for shops, hotels and restaurants that rely on the Christmas season to boost revenue.

Labor unrest has increased in recent months after rising food and energy prices pushed inflation to a 41-year high of 11.1% and employer pay offers failed to keep pace with the cost of living. Some 417,000 working days were lost to strikes in October.

RMT leader Mick Lynch insisted his members have the support of the public and blamed the government for the impasse. "I have no intention of spoiling people's Christmas," he told British broadcaster ITV.

Former FTX CEO charged by SEC

AP / New York

The US Securities and Exchange Commission has charged the former CEO of failed cryptocurrency firm FTX with orchestrating a scheme to defraud investors.

An SEC complaint filed on Tuesday alleges that Sam Bankman-Fried raised more than $1.8 billion from equity investors since May 2019 by promoting FTX as a safe, responsible platform for trading crypto assets.

The civil complaint says Bankman-Fried diverted customer funds to Alameda Research LLC, his privately-held crypto fund, without telling them.

The complaint also says Bankman-Fried commingled FTX customers' funds at Alameda to make undisclosed venture investments, lavish real estate purchases, and large political donations.

"Bankman-Fried placed billions of dollars of FTX customer funds into Alameda. He then used Alameda as his personal piggy bank to buy luxury condominiums, support political campaigns, and make private investments," the complaint reads.

"None of this was disclosed to FTX equity investors."
